APPENDIX 1

Translating indefinites such as:	`WHOEVER' / `HOWEVER' / `WHATEVER'

a) WHOEVER + subject + is/are — qui que + subject + subjunctive of être whoever you are	qui que tu sois

WHOEVER + verb other than is/are	quiconque + INDICATIVE

(ie when 'whoever' is the subject of the verb) whoever knocked on the door	quiconque a frappé à la porte whoever enters the schoolroom	quiconque entre dans la salle de classe

b) HOWEVER + adjective — si/quelque + adjective + que + subjunctive

however gifted they are	si/quelque doués qu'ils soient however difficult they may seem	si/quelque difficiles qu'ils paraissent

NOTE quelque used in this way NEVER agrees, but the adjective must agree with the noun it is describing.

c) WHATEVER + verb other than is/are — quoi que (spelt as 2 words) + subjunctive whatever you say	quoi que tu dises whatever he did	quoi qu'il ait fait

WHATEVER + noun + is/are — quel(le)(s) que + subjunctive + noun

whatever his motives are	quels que soient ses mobiles whatever their reasons are	quelles que soient leurs raisons

(note that the quel agrees in number & gender with the noun to which it refers)

WHATEVER + noun + verb other than is/are — quelque(s) + noun + que + subjunctive whatever reason he gave	quelque raison qu'il ait donnée whatever books he has read	quelques livres qu'il ait lus

(note that the quelque is singular or plural to agree with the noun)

NEVER use the subjunctive after chaque fois que (whenever) and partout où (wherever)

WHENEVER :	chaque fois que	whenever I write	chaque fois que j'écris
WHEREVER :	partout où	wherever I go	partout où je vais
