F Sum 7 Grammar notes

The pronouns "y" and "en"

- In F Lent 5 and 7, you learned about object pronouns. You learned about DIRECT OBJECT PRONOUNS which were used to refer to both people and things where no preposition was involved (voir qn, acheter qc…). And you learned about INDIRECT OBJECT PRONOUNS that were used for people only for non-reflexive verbs involving the preposition à (parler à qn etc). Look back if you need to.

- Both sorts of pronouns go in the same place (before the conjugated verb or infinitive, and where there is a combination, the order is:

  - me, te, se, nous, vous
    le, la, les
    lui, leur
    en

- Y and EN are both indirect object pronouns, so never cause any sort of PDO agreement with past participles. Though they have several uses, here are some of the main ones:

- Y means THERE and refers to a place. It goes in the usual position.

  - Tu y vas ce soir? Non, j'y suis allé hier.
    Je suis allé au cinéma, mais je n'y ai reconnu personne.

- Y can also refer THINGS (not people) for verbs that use the preposition "à":

  - Je m'y habitue Je m'y suis abonné
    Nous nous y intéressons Elle y pense
    Il n'y a pas pensé J'y penserai
    Elle y a assisté Il n'y a pas répondu
    Je devrai m'y attendre Veux-tu t'y abonner?

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| s'habituer à | to get used to sthg | s'attendre à | to expect sthg |
| s'intéresser à | to be interested in | s'abonner à | to subscribe to sthg |
| répondre à | to answer sthg | assister à | to attend sthg |
| ressembler à | to look like sthg | obéir à | to obey sthg |
| penser à | to think about sthg | se fier à | to trust sthg |

- EN often means "of it", "of them", "some", or "any".

  - Le vin? J'en bois souvent. J'en ai trop bu.
  - Tu en as? Non je n'en ai pas. Une voiture? Il en a trois.
  - Du fromage? Elle en veut 50g. Nous devons en acheter 50g
  - Elle a cinq ans, moi j'en ai 14. Combien en avez-vous?
  - Des frères? Elle en a trois. Moi, je n'en ai qu'un seul.

- Any use of a number or quantity in French must use "EN" if the actual item being counted is not specified. It is not possible to say "~~Elle veut trois~~" or "~~combien avez-vous acheté?~~"
  - Elle veut trois pommes Elle en veut trois
    Vous avez acheté combien de pommes? Vous en avez acheté combien?

- EN can also refer to things (not people) for verbs using the preposition "de":

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| avoir peur de | to be afraid of sthg | avoir besoin de | to need sthg |
| avoir honte de | to be ashamed of sthg | se moquer de | to make fun of sthg |
| se servir de | to use sthg | se souvenir de | to remember sthg |
| parler de | to talk about sthg | penser de | to have an opinion about sth |
| profiter de | to make the most of sthg | rire de | to laugh at sthg |

  - Nous en avons peur Vous en souvenez-vous?
    Elle en parle tout le temps J'en ai très besoin.

Forming adverbs: quickly, immediately, noisily, well

- Unlike ADJECTIVES, ADVERBS never agree. Their form never changes. Instead of describing/qualifying things, they describe/qualify VERBS.

- ADJECTIVES ending in a vowel: vrai, absolu – vraiment, absolument
  - add –MENT to the masculine form

- most ADJECTIVES ending in a consonant: lent, heureux – lentement, heureusement
  - add –MENT to the feminine form

- ADJECTIVES ending –ANT/-ENT: constant, évident – constamment, évidemment
  - -remove –ANT/-ENT and replace with –AMMENT/-EMMENT

- IMPORTANT EXCEPTIONS TO MEMORISE:
  - gentil-gentiment bref-brièvement énorme-énormément
    bon-bien mauvais-mal précis-précisément
