Aller + infinitive / Venir de + infinitive

- You will be familiar with how to use the FUTURE tense to refer to event which will take place. Previously you learned the following irregular stems for this tense. Revise them now:

avoir	j'aur ai	vouloir	je voudr ai
aller	j'ir ai	mourir	je mourr ai
être	je ser ai	pouvoir	je pourr ai
voir	je verr ai	courir	je courr ai
envoyer	j'enverr ai	savoir	je saur ai
recevoir	je recevr ai	s'asseoir	je m'assiér ai
devoir	je devr ai	il faut	il faudr a
faire	je fer ai	il pleut	il pleuvr a
venir	je viendr ai
tenir	je tiendr ai

- Another way of referring to events which are to take place in the near future is to use the present tense of ALLER followed by the infinitive:

  - Je vais faire mes devoirs dans une demi-heure
  - Quand allez-vous rentrer du Portugal?
  - Il va étudier à l'Université Oxford cette année.

- Although very similar to the future tense, this strucure is not perfectly interchangeable. It should only be used in cases where English does not use the word "WILL".

- It is possible to use this same strucure in the IMPERFECT tense to express what WAS GOING to happen:

  - J'allais acheter un CD, mais je n'avais pas assez d'argent
  - Nous allions l'inviter à venir mais il a été malade

- Another useful structure is the present tense or the imperfect tense of the verb VENIR followed by DE and then an infinitive. This expresses what "has/had just" been done/happened.

  - Je viens de finir mes devoirs – je viens de me réveiller
  - Nous venons d'arriver – elle vient de commander une boisson
  - Quand je suis arrivé, le film venait de commencer
  - Le restaurant venait d'ouvrir, mais tout le monde voulait y manger

REVISION: indirect/direct/ disjunctive pronouns

- Direct Object pronouns:
  - me, te, le/la, nous, vous, les
- Indirect Object pronouns:
  - me, te, lui, nous, vous, leur
- Disjunctive pronouns:
  - moi, toi, lui/elle, nous, vous, eux/elles

- Direct object pronouns are used to refer to PEOPLE and THINGS for verbs that do not involve a preposition. They are placed before the conjugated verb or infinitive. When used in the perfect tense, they will cause a PDO agreement with past participles.

  - je les aime beaucoup — tu les as vus?
  - La chaise? je l'ai mise ici. — nous les avons perdus
  - je les ai toutes mangées — le stylo? Je l'ai

- Indirect object pronouns are used to refer to PEOPLE only for NON-REFLEXIVE verbs that involve the preposition "à". "y" is used to refer to things for such verbs. They are placed before the conjugated verb or a dependent infinitive. No PDO agreement is caused as they are not "direct"

  - je lui ai donné le cadeau — tu leur as parlé?
  - Il ne m'a pas parlé — nous lui avons téléphoné
  - Il n'y a pas pensé — L'accident? J'y pense toujours

- Disjunctive pronouns are used to refer to PEOPLE only for verbs that involve the preposition "de" (EN is used for things) and REFLEXIVE * verbs that involve the preposition "à" (Y is used for things). Unlike the other two sets of pronouns, disjunctive pronouns are placed after the preposition that necessitates their use.

  - je me méfie de lui — tu te souviens d'eux?
  - elle s'est approchée de moi — vous vous adressez à elle?
  - j'en ai peur! — tu en as besoin?

 PENSER/VENIR/COURIR/ALLER/FAIRE ATTENTION à qn – exceptions – they use the disjunctive pronouns: je pense à toi, viens à moi!,il a couru à elle…
