EW 18 ARTICLES

100. ARTICLES

101. The DEFINITE ARTICLE (le, la, l', les) MUST BE USED in the following cases:

a) in universal statements, to denote a category or type

Lions are dangerous	:	Les lions sont dangereux
I like tea	:	J'aime le thé

b) with titles

General de Gaulle : le Général de Gaulle Captain Scott : le capitaine Scott

c) with proper names qualified by an adjective poor Mary : la pauvre Marie

d) parts of the body You must distinguish between:

A Actions which one does to one's own body

i) simple movement of a part of one's body, when nothing else is involved

He opened his mouth	:	Il a ouvert la bouche
I raised my arm	:	J'ai levé le bras

ii) action done by oneself to a part of one's own body requires that the verb become reflexive

She wiped her mouth	:	Elle s'est essuyé_ la bouche
They rubbed their eyes	:	Ils se sont frotté_ les yeux

B Actions done to another person's body

iii) action done to another person requires an indirect object pronoun to show possessor (me, te, lui, etc)

He seized her arm	:	Il lui a saisi le bras
The cat jumped onto my lap	:	Le chat m'a sauté sur les genoux

BUT the possessive adjective (mon, ma mes etc) is used

i) when the part of the body stands as the subject

His feet were hurting him	:	Ses pieds lui faisaient mal
His face was quite red	:	Son visage était tout rouge

ii) when the part of the body is qualified by an adjective

I raised my hairy arm	:	J'ai levé mon bras poilu

e) "From" with countries

If the country is masculine use du / des	Il est revenu du Japon / du Canada / des Etats-Unis
BUT if the country is feminine use de	Il est revenu de Suisse / d'Angleterre / de Belgique (no article)

f) in translations of with in descriptive phrases

i) where it is a question of a PERMANENT FEATURE or AN ARTICLE OF DRESS use à + definite article (au, à la, à l', aux)

The woman with the red hat	La femme au chapeau rouge
The boy with blond hair	Le garçon aux cheveux blonds

ii) where it is a question of a TEMPORARY STATE the definite article stands alone (NO avec; NO à)

He came in with his hands behind his back	Il est entré les mains derrière le dos.

102. The DEFINITE ARTICLE is NOT USED in the following cases.

(In each case note carefully the exception)

a) with verbs and adjectives that ALWAYS REQUIRE `de' before a following noun

He did without wine	Il s'est passé de vin	covered in snow	couvert de neige
I need money	j'ai besoin d'argent	littered with books	encombré de livres

BUT if English has `the', use one of du, de la, de l', des

The table was littered with the books he had left there	La table était encombrée des livres qu'il y avait laissés.
He did without the wine we had bought him	Il s'est passé du vin que nous lui avions acheté
I need the money I lent you	J'ai besoin de l'argent que je t'ai prêté

b) with languages when used after en or with *parler

We speak German	Nous parlons allemand
He wrote in Chinese	Il a écrit en chinois

BUT if parler is qualified by an adverb or adverbial phrase, or if the language is used with any verb other than parler, you must use a definite article

We are learning Spanish	Nous apprenons l'espagnol
I am studying Greek	J'étudie le grec
He speaks Italian fluently	Il parle couramment l'italien

c) expressions of quantity are followed by `de' WITHOUT ARTICLE

He drank four cups of tea / a lot of wine	Il a bu quatre tasses de thé / beaucoup de vin

BUT where English has `of the' use one of du, de la, de l', des

He drank four cups of the tea I had bought	Il a bu quatre tasses du thé que j'avais acheté
They drank a lot of the wine Paul had given us	Ils ont bu beaucoup du vin que Paul nous avait donné

d) The following expressions of quantity are always followed by one of *du, de la, de l', des

(some) more	encore du/de la/des	many	bien des + plural verb
most	la plupart des + plural noun + plural verb

Would you like some more wine?	Vous voulez encore du vin?
Most people never go there	La plupart des gens n'y vont jamais

e) with days of the week the definite article is not used

Monday is the first day of the week	Lundi est le premier jour de la semaine
We played cards on Thursday (evening)	Nous avons joué aux cartes jeudi (soir)

BUT to translate "on" followed by a day of the week in the plural use le

We play cards on Thursdays	Nous jouons aux cartes le jeudi
I used to see him on Tuesday mornings	Je le voyais le mardi matin

f) to translate "the more . . . the more" or "the less . . . the less" do not use the definite article

The more I see him the less I like him	Plus je le vois, moins je l'aime
The more you read the wiser you are	Plus on lit plus on est sage

g) no definite article is included with adjectival phrases

i) indicating season / month

On a winter's day	par un jour d'hiver
One autumn evening	par un soir d'automne

ii) indicating type

A French lesson	une leçon de français

103. The INDEFINITE ARTICLE (un, une, des) is used as in English, but it is omitted in the following cases:

NOTE THAT THESE EXPLANATIONS IN THIS SECTION REFER ONLY TO THE INDEFINITE ARTICLE; IF THE ENGLISH HAD CONTAINED "THE" A DEFINITE ARTICLE WOULD BE USED.

a) with occupations, nationalities and religions omit the indefinite article after être and devenir

His father became a Catholic	Son père est devenu catholique
His brother is a doctor	Son frère est médecin
My teacher is a Frenchman	Mon professeur est français

BUT if the occupation or religion is qualified by an adjective the article must be included

His father became a good Catholic	Son père est devenu un bon catholique
His brother is a famous doctor	Son frère est un médecin connu

b) Without any / a . . . & Without . . . or . . . do not use an indefinite article

He arrived without a coat	Il est arrivé sans manteau
He left for Germany without luggage or money	Il est parti pour l'Allemagne sans bagages ni argent

c) With/Without + abstract noun Avec / Sans without indefinite article

They waited impatiently	Ils ont attendu avec impatience
They spoke without conviction	Ils ont parlé sans conviction

BUT, after avec & sans, if the abstract noun is qualified by an adjective, the indefinite article must be used

He showed great courage	Il a fait preuve d'un grand courage

d) As a . . . Comme without an indefinite article

As a student he is very gifted	Comme étudiant il est très doué
He works as a hairdresser	Il travaille comme coiffeur

g) When a noun is in apposition the INDEFINITE article is omitted

Manchester, a large industrial town	Manchester, grande ville industrielle
Louis Lumière, a chemist from Lyon	Louis Lumière, chimiste de Lyon

104. des will always shorten to de when it comes immediately before a plural adjective, unless des means "of the"

des hommes BUT de beaux hommes

j'en ai un autre	BUT	j'en ai d'autres
des filles	BUT	de jolies filles

BUT beaucoup des jolies filles because the meaning is "a lot of the pretty girls"

105. du, de la, de l', des will always shorten to de after a negative if it expresses absence or lack

J'ai bu de la bière	BUT	je n'ai pas bu de bière
J'ai un stylo	BUT	je n'ai pas de stylo

NOTE
- ne . . . que is not a true negative — je n'ai bu que de la bière
- if the sentence using a negative does not express absence or lack, do not use de
  - This is not a pipe — Ceci n'est pas une pipe (Magritte)
  - They were not Germans — Ce n'étaient pas des Allemands